

Teacher Recruitment Methods

December, 2016

Measurement Incorporated's current method for teacher recruitment is to post flyers on teacher-accessed web sites, job posts, and similar locations. MI welcomes advice regarding particular locations or groups to target, such as retired teacher organizations or other teacher agencies.

MI encourages State Departments of Education to include information about teacher scoring opportunities in communications that are sent to districts. Similarly, posting information on State Department websites may increase teacher participation in scoring.

A final suggestion MI encourages State Departments of Education to consider is to offer Continuing Education Credits/Units for teachers who work as readers, if permissible by state policy.
